SUMMARY

My name is Jonathan Laliberte and I have been programming for almost 9 years now. My main focus has been web applications on the frontend but I am also comfortable on the backend.

Conscientious, creative and adaptable individual with high drive and initiative. Team player who can be trusted with delegated responsibility and is able to focus on set objectives, as well as multi-task, while working in pressurized environments.

Seeking to commit to a position with growth potential over the long-term. Full-time work is preferable and is also willing to relocate.
